The first speaker of the evening was Rev. Robert S. Moore of Williamstic who spoke on the Indispensable Conditions of Victory. He said: When our fathers and uncles fought to preserve the Union in '61 they fought in an army where when you met the enemy it was man against man. Now it is the was man against man. Now it is the German army, the German people and all their resources against the allies. War has ceased to be a contest be-

Libby, chairman of the local war bureau. Prayer was offered by Rev. Arthur F. Purkiss, after which the first verse of America was sung under the leadership of the Bass-Clef members. In his opening remarks Mr. Libby said:

Ladles and Gentlemen:—We are fortunate to be able to hold a war rally this evening under the auspices of the state council of defense. You know "ever there" there are first line trenches and the reserves. The problem before us is whether of go into the frontline trenches "over here" or whether to sit idly by and wait for peace. Before the war the trade mark, "Made in Germany," was famous all over the world. What we must between the world. What we must between the peace might be as beautiful as the setting sun, but like the setting sun, it would soon pass away, without leaving a trace and leave the world.

war has ceased to be a contest of tween armies. It is now a struggle between nations. All talk about peace is foolish; all talk of reconstruction is absurd; all talk of trade fransformation and recreation is futile. Victory the Watchword! Unless we win, free Americans will be reduced to a degree of servitude such as we thought we had escaped for all time. Our one word must be Victory! Not until this war has been eternally won can we think of peace. But Germany has not won yet. She But Germany has not won yet. She has been outfought in every campaign—at the Marne, at Verdun, on the Piave, in Mesopotamia and is being outfought at this very minute on the banks of the Somme. The Germans are such poor sports that they refuse to take a sporting chance in a sea fight, and as long as America and England hold the Atlantic and Japan the Pacific Germany is doomed to failure. Tonight as it stands foday is on the brink of starvation. We must save coal for in the present struggle coal means every enything. The man who heats his house to an inordinate degree is detaying the hour of victory. We must cut out unnecessary travel. Our produce is of no use unless it can be brought to the seaports where it can be brought to the seaports where it can be brought of the non-essential industries must be abandoned when there is such a crying need for workery in the shipyardsy in the munition factories and on the farms. ASSISTANT COUNTY AGENT PRESENTS DAIRY REPORT. Result of Year's - Co-operation With seven dairymen in New London county was given to the county agriculty was given to the county agricultural board and the co-operators at a bureau. Each item of expense and receipts was explained carefully to the men assembled. Each co-operator received a report of the year's work and for comparison his farm, the average of the seven farms and the best farm was tybulated on each report.

It was decided that the data secured amble justified both time and money amply justified both time and money expended. However, it was agreed that with this work as a basis the assistant county agent's time could be used to greater advantage by discontinuing this type of work and putting in its place a project covering work of a broader scope, thereby reaching more men and causing more general im-provement in dairy farming over the ounty as a whole.

The report is as follows: Farming is a business the same as panking or running a railroad. It is a business which involves the pro-duction and sale of several kinds of products. Two important points must be considered: (1) What does it cost to produce these products? (2) By selling at market prices what profit is made on them? The problem of the farmer is to meet conditions on his own farm in way which will give him the greatest net returns for his labor and the use of his capital. He should receive in terest on his capital as well as wages for his labor, but owing to the lack of proper records few farmers know what wages they actually receive. Recognizing the fact that the dairy tained her dream, but if we have anything to say she shall have a far harder time in maintaining it.

The German scheme of world dominion is not impossible; it is not impracticable. When the Roman empire without the aid of any modern inventions could hold her vast territory, surely Germany could hold the world when by means of the present read communication any rebellion.

The farm feeding the largest amount of hay produced milk the cheapest. One farm lost about $400 on the dairy herd and they were fed as follows: Hay 57t, silage 1, grain 1.2 per cow per year. In this case more grain was fed than hay, and inasmuch as grain furnished nutrients at the greatest cost loss was inevitable.
